

After submitting the project before the due date, we:

- finished commenting our code
- removed placeholder images with our pixel art
- changed the positions of ingredients so that it matched the background (i.e. placing images such that it looks like they're sitting on a table).
- changed the images' size so that sliding bars didn't show
- made the code more concise by adding some more helper methods
- made sure our code was consistent with our code style document
